

Westbrook Historic District

The Westbrook Historic Town Center Historic District (see map) is recognized by Federal and State jurisdictions: the National Register of Historic Places and the Connecticut State Register of Historic Places. Properties on the map are noted as contributing or not. Contributing refers to the properties which are historic, versus the ones which are not historic but are nonetheless within the boundary. Westbrook does not have a Local Historic District nor does it have a review board. This means that there is no regulatory review and there are no restrictions on what can be done with buildings or structures.

Both the State and Federal registers are primarily honorific.

- The Federal registration is administered by the National Park Service in the Department of the Interior. The National Register of Historic Places is the official list of the nation's buildings, sites, and structures that have a high degree of physical integrity and a documented level of historical or architectural significance. Listing entails no obligations on the part of private property owners. Detailed information is on the website accessible through this link: <https://www.nps.gov/subjects/nationalregister/index.htm>
- The State registration is administered by the State Historic Preservation, under the Department of Economic Development. The State Register of Historic Places is the State of Connecticut's official listing of buildings, sites, structures, and objects that are important to the historical development of Connecticut. Contributing properties are eligible for a plaque and for tax credits for historically sensitive preservation work. Detailed information is on the website accessible through this link: https://portal.ct.gov/DECD/Content/Historic-Preservation/01_Programs_Services/Historic-Designations/State-Registry-of-Historic-Places

Contributing Property owners are encouraged to utilize the Connecticut tax credit system for historically sensitive preservation work on their homes and commercial buildings. These credits may allow a larger investment for a better restoration job.
